PROBLEM

20% of the population suffers from dyslexia

2x the cost of the special education for dyslexic children in order to perform as well as neurotypical students (on average)

29% of kids with dyslexia suffer from anxiety (7% for students without dyslexia)

Dyxlisea

A frired who has dylliesxa dceesbird to me how she enpelexcres radieng. She can raed, but it teaks a lot of cattcnonorien, and the leettrs seemes to "jrup aorund".

URGENCY

According to the National Library of Medicine:

- ➔ Dyslexic learners in public schools were exposed, ridiculed, bullied, and undermined by their peers.
- ➔ Teachers are not patient with dyslexic learners, do not give them extra attention, and purposely embarrassed them

The Solution

Facts:

- open source font proven to be easier to read for dyslexic people
- bilingualism increases the reading capacity of individuals with a reading disorder

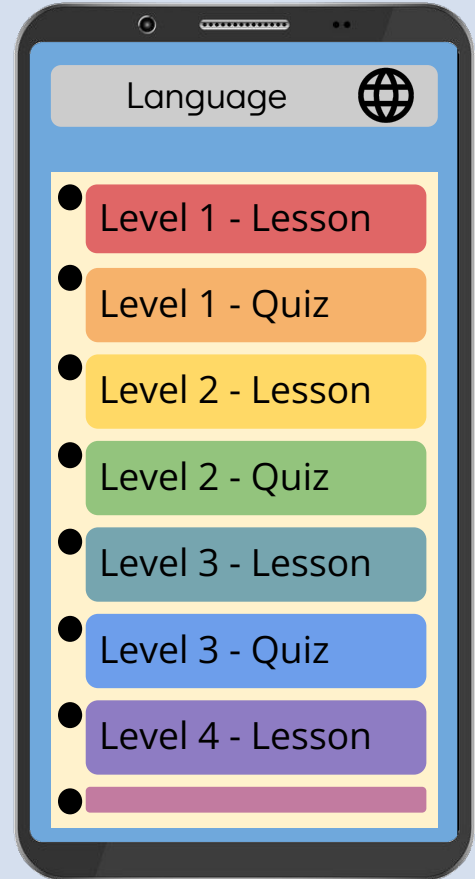

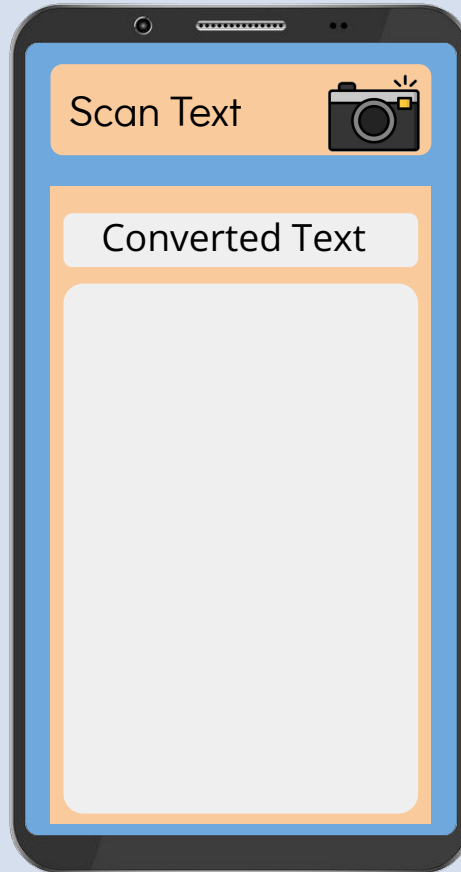

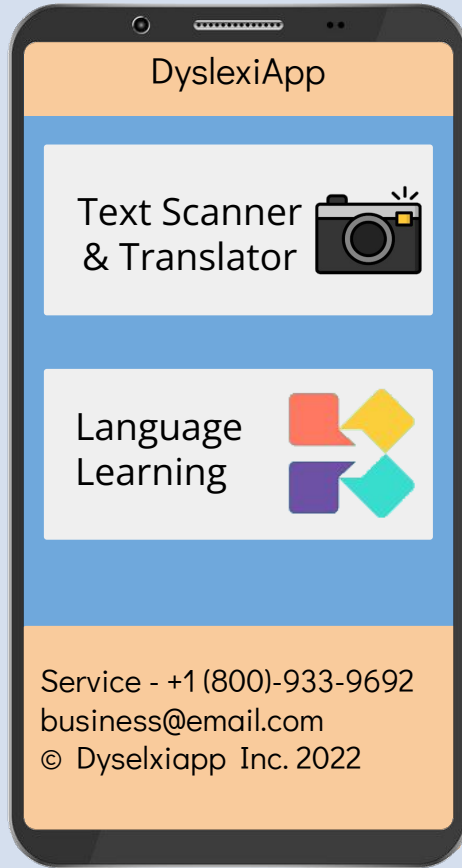

Proposal:

- translate text into Open Dyslexic with a scanner
- help language learning for dyslexic students

Impact:

This way, students could focus on academics without the struggle of reading, and also actively try to minimize the symptoms of their dyslexia.

FUNCTIONING & PARTNERS

Image Scanner:

- Supervised machine learning
- YoloV5 model
- Python EMNIST Dataset
- Translate an image's text to onscreen text

Language Course:

- Partnership with schools to create a comprehensible language learning course suited for dyslexic students

The Novelty

Innovation

- immediate tool for day-to-day and in-school reading
- individuals learn a new language and lessen the impact of dyslexia symptoms
- dyslexic individuals no longer rely on peers

Competition

Scanner Apps (like Speechify):

- scan and read aloud

Language Learning Apps (like Duolingo):

- typical language teaching

Dyslexic Learning Apps (like MDA Avaz Reader):

- increased font size and images to go with words

What's Better

Only app or interface that provides immediate and long term solutions to dyslexic students, increasing reading skills by:

- changing the font
- teaching with an approach suited to dyslexic students

Financial Model

1. Income by subscription
 - a. 10 dollars a month subscription for individuals or 100 dollars a year
 - b. 7 dollars a month per student in a school (bulk order by schools)
2. Expenses
 - a. App store & Google Play Store
 - i. $99/year
 - ii. 22% of digital payments
 - b. Research and Development
 - i. 15% of income
 - c. Taxes
 - i. 21% of income

Customers

Individuals (B2C):

- parents looking for tools to help their dyslexic child
- older students looking for day-to-day improvements

Schools (B2B2C):

- looking for a way to support students with dyslexia, with only a fraction of the cost
- allow dyslexia students to be more independent

We would plan to incorporate as a B Corp, as we meet all of their requirements (industry practices, complaints, impact).
